¹ The APEX Rate is an interest rate established periodically by Standard based on expected yields on currently available investments. It is a component of each Vintage Rate and the Fund Interest Rate.

The Fund Interest Rate determines daily interest credited to the contract and will be weighted by current balance per Vintage Rate associated with deposits. Each new deposit will belong to the semi-annual Vintage corresponding to the period the Deposit was made.

The Fund Interest Rate is the rate used to credit interest to the fund balance. It is made up of multiple Vintage Rates with the weight on each Vintage Rate determined by cash flow activity in the fund over time.

The Portfolio Rate is an interest rate established periodically by Standard based on expected yields on all investment backing the fund. It is also a component of each Vintage Rate and the Fund Interest Rate.

The New Deposit Rate is the rate applied to new deposits during the stated rate period and is equal to the declared APEX Rate. APEX Rates are declared on January 1 and July 1 of each year.

Each initial Vintage Rate will be equal to the APEX Rate and will be guaranteed for all new deposits during the first six-month period that the rate is active. Subsequent Vintage Rates will be a combination of APEX Rates since inception and the current Portfolio Rate and will become the Portfolio Rate after five years.
